About Us

CHAST Insurance Brokers Ltd (hereinafter referred to as “the Company” or “CHAST Insurance Brokers Ltd”) engages in insurance brokerage and consulting activities across Cyprus, having its main office at Protogora 5, Dali 2549, Nicosia, Cyprus.

This text aims at providing you with intelligible, transparent and direct information about the processing of your personal data collected and processed by us in the context of fulfilling our obligations to you, as our Company is bound by the applicable legislation to secure and safeguard your right to protection against the illegal processing of personal data and your right to privacy, as well as to protect the personal data maintained by us and are of concern to you.

Your personal information may help us to better understand your insurance needs and to offer you a more comprehensive and customized service. However, we understand that maintaining the security and confidentiality of your personal data is a big responsibility which we take very seriously. For this reason, we have drawn up this Policy, among other things, which aims at informing you about the kind of data we collect, why we collect them and how we use them.

This Policy is addressed to natural persons, who are current or potential customers of the Company, beneficiaries of insurance policy contracts, authorized persons, third persons, suppliers, and associates. By providing your personal information or the information of some other person, such as a beneficiary of the Insurance Policy or a person who files a claim and for whom you have consented or obtained authorization towards the processing of their personal data, you accept that we will use such information in the manner analytically explained in this Policy. You should refer a person whose personal data you give to the Company, to this Policy.

Further Processing Notices may be delivered to you at a later stage underlining specific uses of your personal information.

It is also likely that certain changes will be made to this Policy to keep it in line with changes in the legislation as well as with operational and technological developments. You must from time to time check the website of the Company for the latest version of the Policy.

In the Policy, your data may sometimes be referred to as “personal data”, “personal information” or “data.” For the purposes of the Policy, personal data are any information concerning a natural person, whose identity may be established whether directly or indirectly, particularly by reference to an identification detail, such as full name, identity card number or one or more factors relating to the physical, physiological, genetic, psychological, financial, cultural, or social identity of the said natural person.

The term personal data also includes, among other things, certain sensitive data (or special categories data), as for example the data concerning a natural person’s state of health, any penal convictions and data revealing the racial or ethnic origin of the person.

When we say that your personal data are subject to “processing”, this term includes every action undertaken in relation to these data, such as the collection, registration, organization, structure, storage, adaptation, variation, recovery, search for information, usage, transmission, diffusion, disposal, correlation, combination, limitation, erasure, and destruction.

In case you require more information on how we process your personal data, you may contact us at the address of our registered office Protogora 5, Dali 2549, Nicosia, Cyprus, or by emailing info@chastinsurance.com.

Personal Data Processing Principles

In collecting sensitive personal data, we are bound by the General Regulation for the Protection of Personal Data (EU) 2016/679 and, taking into consideration the necessary organizational measures, we proceed to the processing stage, based on the following principles governing the processing of personal data:

- they shall be subjected to legitimate and lawful processing in a transparent manner,
- they shall be collected for specified, express and legitimate purposes and shall not be subjected to further processing in any way incompatible with the purposes for which these data are collected,
- only the appropriate and relevant data shall be collected, limited to the necessary purpose for which they have been collected,
- they shall be accurate and updated as necessary,
- they shall be retained only for as long as required and for the purposes for which they have been collected,
- they shall be subjected to processing in a manner guaranteeing their required security against non-authorized or unlawful processing and accidental loss, destruction, or wear, among other things, through the use of suitable techniques and/or organizational measures,
- when we transmit your personal data whether to another country or to a person who carries out the processing on behalf of the Company, the necessary measures shall be taken by us for the protection of your personal data, as for example through the conclusion of specialized contracts for data processing.

How we Collect your Personal Data

More often than not, the collection of personal data is performed directly by you or through consultants or intermediaries. The relevant information may be received through a proposition submitted to us whether directly or indirectly (via associates or/and agents) or by way of the agreement between us by telephone or any other kind of communication with you.

Nevertheless, in some cases the collection of personal data may be performed by third parties, when for example you are named by someone as party to an offer/Company contract. Your personal details may be collected either by third persons (associates, agents, lawyers, authorized individuals) or by other insurance companies/brokers/agents or even by sources available to the public at large.

More analytically, personal data may be collected:

In no case, however, are we going to share your personal data for processing for purposes contrary to those described in this Policy without your prior notification.

In each case arising from our relationship, your personal data may be transmitted to public authorities, researchers, reinsurance companies, the Registrar of Insurance Companies, who shall undertake to process them on behalf of the Company in the capacity of processors, based on the agreement between us. Personal data may be transmitted abroad to associated third providers, reinsurance companies, lawyers and experts.

In each transmission to third parties every measure shall be taken beforehand so that only the necessary data shall be transmitted for the implementation of the contract, along with the effective requirements for their legitimate and lawful processing; moreover, the organizations to which the data are being transmitted shall undertake a written commitment that they shall on their part comply with the provisions of the General Data Protection Regulation. Exempt are those cases in which the communication of the data is effected due to some legal or statutory obligation.

In cases where it is necessary to communicate your personal data to countries outside the European Union, which do not offer adequate guarantees for the protection of your personal data, our Company shall be obliged and hereby undertakes the responsibility to conclude contractual clauses between our Company and the company to which the data are communicated, in order to safeguard the information transmitted.

Retention Period for your Personal Data

Our Company shall retain your personal data in its records only for the time period required for the fulfilment of any insurance contract brokered by us, unless legal or statutory obligations provide otherwise. This also applies to those cases where our agreement has for any reason been interrupted.

Due to harmonization with the Regulation, we have determined the time periods for the retention of your personal data, depending on the processing to which they are being subjected. The parameters that have been taken into consideration for the determination of the time periods are your better service, our operational needs, our legal obligations, and the safeguarding of our legal interests.

In order to be accurately informed on the retention periods, please contact us directly.

What are your rights?

The General Data Protection Regulation defines your rights regarding your personal data. Because of this, our Company has developed a mechanism for the satisfaction of requests concerning your personal data, as follows:

I. Right to access: You have a right to access your data maintained by us and you may at any time obtain a copy thereof provided we possess them in electronic form.

II. Right to rectification: You have a right to access and rectify your personal details. You may at any stage of our relationship check and update your personal data, always presenting the necessary documentation and requesting the rectification or completion of inaccurate information.

III. Right to be forgotten: You have the right to ask for the erasure of the whole or part of the data that concern you. We would like to underline however that our Company shall be obliged to erase only those personal data which can be erased as per our data erasure policy.

IV. Right to restriction: You hold the right to ask for the processing of your personal data to be restricted, even when the accuracy of the data is disputed or furthermore when the data are no longer useful to the Company, but you request their retention due to legal claims.

V. Right to object: You may at any time whatsoever raise objections about the processing of your personal data. In case you make use of this right, the processing shall immediately cease, unless the Company can prove the existence of legal interest or the need to use the data in support of a legal/judicial case.

VI. Right to data portability: You have the right to portability, that is, to transfer your personal data to another organization in a legible and commonly used form. The said data shall be erased as specified in the erasure policy of the Company.

VII. Right to recall consent: You have the right any time to withdraw your consent to the processing of your personal data, without however affecting the legality on which our policy was based prior to your withdrawal. We would like to inform you that the recall of your consent may possibly lead to the termination of the relevant services.

VIII. Right to launch complaint: You have the right to launch a complaint with the Commissioner for the Protection of Personal Data, regarding the processing of your personal data.

If in filing your complaint you feel that you have been wronged by us or if you have any doubts about the outcome of your request, you may submit it in writing to the Commissioner for the Protection of Personal Data at the below address:
